cils, pomatums and pomades have had their day. They belong to the musty past.

Nobody that understands the chemistry of the hair and the philosophy of its growth thinks of using them. Instead of clog-ging the pores of the scalp with thick onguents, and thus obstructing the insensi-ble perspiration which is essential to the nealth of the fibers, we now tone the surface of the head with an invigorating appli-cation which penetrates to the roots of the hair and stimulates them in the same way that the fertilizing agents spread over the meadows stimulate the grass roots and cause the blades It may well be called the fertilizer of the head. To the barren scalp it communicates vegetative power. If the hair is dropping out or becoming dry and withered, it arrests the process of dilapidation or blight. The hair thickens and becomes tion, and as a dressing it is unapprose hy any preparation that has yet been laid on the toilet of fashion. 12-8-d&w-lw.
